

SEMI WEEKLY INTERIOR JOURNAL.

VOL. XXI.

STANFORD, KY., TUESDAY, APRIL 4, 1893.

NO. 10

LONDON, LAUREL COUNTY.

—Henry P. Brown, Sr., fell from the Masonic building Friday and was pretty badly hurt. The scaffolding was not put up safely.

—The many acquaintances of Mrs. Caroline Thompson will be glad to know that she is improving daily. Everybody in the county knows her and she has been at death's door for the past several days.

—Easter services were held by the various denominations Sunday and the nice, new and bright dresses and hats exhibited by the young ladies were enough to make an old fellow feel young again.

—Miss Manerva George was declared a lunatic before a jury called together by Judge Barnett. The proof brought before the jury was that her father had three brothers and three sisters sent to a lunatic asylum. She was 18 years of age and a very good looking young woman.

—Hon. David N. Williams, of Mt. Vernon, was in town Sunday. Mrs. A. W. Higgins, of the same place, is here visiting her mother. Hon. R. C. Ford and wife are at the Catching House and will be here for several weeks. Mr. Ford has just returned from a trip to Washington and says office seekers are so thick there that it is actually disgusting.

—Jake Muney, a native of Switzerland and well known as the Swiss wood carver, was run over and killed last Thursday by the engine belonging to the Alton and Manchester railroad company, by whom he was employed. He was a hard working and honest citizen and left five children, who have since been provided for by his acquaintances from his native land.

—H. C. Thompson's youngest child, aged 4 months, died from cold and bronchitis last Thursday morning and was buried on Cemetery Hill Friday. The little 11-month old child of Wm. Baker, living at the old Baker place a few miles east of London, died Saturday of the same affliction. A good many children have been sick with the same trouble during the last two weeks in town, but these are the only two cases that have proven fatal.

—The Knights of Pythias organized a lodge here Saturday night. Something like 30 persons were here from a distance to initiate the 23 who were admitted under the charter and the initiation ceremonies lasted until 7 o'clock Sunday morning. The initiators were met at the depot by the London brass band and all of us showed our verdancy by gazing at them as they marched up Main street just like we would at the street parade of a circus. They made a handsome company in their uniforms and Chieftain's brass band, also uniformed, with their splendid music added greatly to their appearance. The most of the Pythians were from Richmond.

HUSTONVILLE.

—Mr. Madison Sandidge, of Milledgeville, had his leg broken Thursday by his horse falling with him.

—Miss Mary Lusk, after an absence of several weeks visiting friends in Lancaster and other places, has returned home.

—"Doc" and "Bro" Drye have rented the track of W. S. Wigham at Moreland and are training horses. George Bradley has also gone to Moreland to engage in business and if that thrifty suburb keeps on in her demands for our young men there will soon be a dearth of beaux in town.

—Misses Lizzie Hood and Fannie Hunn, of Shelby City, are visiting Misses Mary Rout and Sallie Hawkins in the Moreland neighborhood. Quite a number of young men in town attended the party at Mr. Spears' Friday night. They report a very pleasant time.

—Mr. Green has presented the Academy with a splendid political map and historical chart of the United States. It supplies a long list want to the teachers of U. S. history, giving in a condensed form and chronological order the important events from the discovery of our Continent up to the present time.

—The band played out on the street Wednesday night and as such a treat is of rare occurrence, everybody enjoyed the music and expressed astonishment that in so short a time they had accomplished so much. Our band is a success this time as sure as you live. Its boys are of the right kind of stuff and know no such word as fail. Here's success to you, young men, and may your efforts be "a joy forever." They will play again Saturday during the exhibition of the horses.

—Roland Maltby, of Pittsburg, Pa., was so outraged when his wife told him she was going to buy a hoop skirt that he drew a razor and attempted to cut her throat.

—The C. & O. railway will hereafter be operated in two general divisions. The Huntington, Cincinnati, Lexington and Big Sandy division are to be known as the Western Division and the Superintendent will be J. M. Gill, office at Huntington. H. C. Boughton will be Superintendent of the Lexington and Big Sandy division with headquarters at Ashland, Ky.

DANVILLE.

—Mrs. E. S. Rowland and Misses Sue and Mamie McRoberts have returned from a visit to Louisville.

—Charles Jennings Thomas Alexander's clerk, is laid up with the mumps at his home near Bryantsville.

—Walter Simpson, of the D. & D. Institute, is putting up a neat residence on Second street, near Broadway.

—Rev. J. W. Lynch preached his last sermon Sunday before entering upon a vacation which may last several months.

—Rev. J. L. Allen preached for Rev. E. M. Green at the First Presbyterian church Sunday. Mr. Green preached at Perryville.

—The family of Walter Nichols moved to Lexington Friday. Mr. Nichols has been there for some time, foreman in the Leader office.

—Mr. Wm. Cheek, who removed to Burkville a few weeks ago, is in the dry goods business there. He was here Monday on his way home from Cincinnati.

—Mr. Thos. Embry, of Dunn, Embry & Fox, has returned from Albany, Ga., where he took for sides 175 miles belonging to his firm. He sold them all at good prices.

—The receipts of the Danville post office for the quarter ending March 31 amount to $8,301.30. This insures Danville to be declared a second-class office from July 1st next.

—The prosecution against Joe Goings for shooting Tom Bogy, was called Saturday before Judge McFerran and continued on account of the sickness of both the defendant and chief prosecuting witness.

—Bart Cox, of the knobs, who failed to obey a subpoena for the January circuit court, was gently waisted to the county jail Monday so as to be in time for the April term. He is a witness in the Eugene Owens murder case.

—There is a strong party in Danville and Boyle county in favor of making every effort to secure the State Capitol. In the event of the city council taking favorable action Tuesday night, a public meeting will soon be held to further the project.

—Mr. Isaac Vanarsdale, an old citizen of Parksville, died Sunday of Grippe, aged nearly 70 years. His wife (he was married twice) and several children survive him. He was the father of the late J. W. Vanarsdale, once a prominent merchant of Junction City.

—Ellen Embry was tried before Police Judge Anderson Friday on a charge of maliciously cutting Maria Nurse. It turned out to be an ordinary fight between two negro women, the charms of Mr. John William Briggs being the indirect cause of the hostilities. Ellen was fined $10 and went to the work-house, boasting that although she would fight, she was never known to tell a lie.

MATRIMONIAL MATTERS.

—John H. Winters, aged 15, and Miss Stella Woodall, just 13, were married in Covington.

—Mrs. Charles Tunnelle, of Chicago, killed herself because her husband, who was compelled to work late at night, failed to return home as early as usual.

—Mrs. Frank Brewer, wife of a wealthy citizen of Laurel Point, W. Va., has brought suit for $10,000 damages against Miss Mattie E. Lough, a pretty young doctor, for alienating her husband's affections.

—The Lexington Leader says that the editor of the Jessamine Journal is shortly to marry a tall and slender blonde on the Versailles pike, not far from the capital of the Blue Grass. Why, Harry! We'd never have thought it of you.

—Secretary Carlisle has appointed O. P. Tucker, a hanker of Covington, Deputy Controller of the Currency.

—The fact that Mrs. Cleveland said she would use haircloth in her dresses instead of crinoline has resulted in a corner in the haircloth market. Prices have almost doubled.

—While the people of Kentucky were enjoying matchless atmospheric conditions Sunday, four inches of snow fell in the State of Washington, blocking railroads and prostrating telegraph wires.

—M. M. Britton was sent to the penitentiary for four years for killing David Norfleet, in September of last year, and Yellow Hammer Ackles 21 years for the murder of John Taylor by the Somersett court.

—Jacob Moran, and industrious Swiss was run over and instantly killed by a coal engine at the Diamond coal works, near Altamont. He leaves five small orphan children, without mother or means of support.

—In Covington Frank Long, in a fit of jealousy, together with intoxication, cut his wife's throat with a Barlow knife and then plunged the blade into his own neck. Neither of them are dead, but the chances are against the woman's recovery.

—The INTERIOR JOURNAL and Newport Journal are now cussing the Legislature in Latin. However nothing short of red-hot poker in the hands of disgusted constituents will ever cause the body to "get a move on."—Owensboro Inquirer.

MIDDLEBURG.

—Fishing and boat riding is the order of the day.

—Mina, the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. K. Swope, fell off the porch and broke her arm last week.

—Mrs. J. C. Collingsworth is still in a low condition. Miss Lena Coulter is able to be up again, after a severe spell of sickness.

—Thomas Miller sold to Jeff Short his residence near the College. Mr. Miller will build again as soon as he can find a suitable site.

—Wilcher and Coulter will leave this week for Lee county with a large crew of hands, where they expect to peel a large amount of hickory.

—Scott Dorn has the lower room of W. P. Keeney's store-room rented and opened up a barber shop and is now ready to serve the public at all hours.

—Jeff Short, the foreman, of the water mill, will, as soon as the water gets too low to run the machinery, put a steam engine to it. So we can now have our corn mashed the year round.

—James Coffey, of Phil., will begin the goods business here in a few days as a partner of M. C. Wheat. Middleburg is getting full of goods and the way prices are being cut, they are getting cheapier.

—Clay Powell, of Lincoln county, was here last week with a view of putting up a livery stable. We would be glad to have him as a townsman, while a stable is badly needed and would pay handsomely.

—A. M. Toms, of Phil., is putting up a handsome residence on Race street, opposite Thos. Miller's. Those who bought lots at the last sale are preparing to build and the carpenter's hammer will be heard ringing in a time not far distant.

—The work and effort to get our mail line changed is again in operation and we hope will prove successful. From the jubilee that the democrats here gave Mr. Cleveland last November, he and P. M. Bissell should see that our line is changed.

—W. P. Keeney and Theo. Wesley have formed a partnership in the drug business and will occupy the house that was formerly occupied by L. D. Williams. Both are men of business qualifications, while Mr. Wesley has had experience in the drug line and knows them when he sees them. Here's hoping them success!

—The Casey County Teachers' Association will be held here on the 21 Saturday in April and a joyous and profitable time is expected. Prof. Peterman, who conducted the Teachers' Institute this year, and made so many friends in the educational work while here, has been requested to attend and conduct it. Everybody is invited who feels interested in the cause.

—A lamp exploded in a shaft at Shamokin, Pa., and 10 miners were suffocated.

—It is getting too hot for the Esquimaux at the World's Fair to wear their seal skin clothes, and they want to go home, alleging general bad treatment.

—Two post-offices were established in Whitley county. Ample, Elizabeth G. Lovett appointed Postmistress, and Teague, Henry Clark appointed Postmaster.

—Mrs. Manning, of Memphis, who swore that Judge DuBose offered to release her husband from prison at the price of her honor, admits that she swore falsely.

—J. H. Mason, head of a St. Louis publishing house, fell down the elevator shaft of the Commerce building at Louisville, nine stories and had every bone in him broken.

—A burglary was prevented at Columbus, O., by a parrot. The burglar had a large amount of goods ready to carry off when the bird uttered some saucy words. The thief dropped the goods and fled.

—Sam M. Gaines, of Kentucky, has been transferred from private secretary to Mr. Carlisle to Chief of Bureau of Mails and Files. This last position is a "phat take" for the popular ex editor, as it pays $2,500 a year.

—Over $1,500,000 will be saved the National Treasury by the reversal of Pension Commissioner Ramm's decision allowing an attorney's fee of $10 for an application for an increase of pension. It is held that a fee of $2 only can be charged.

—Mrs. Ed Patterson, of Warsaw, Ind., was descending a stair with her baby in her arms when her foot caught in her skirt and she fell headlong to the stone pavement, causing instant death. She fell on her baby, crushing it to death.

—Jos. Lloyd Haigh, who in 1880 failed for $300,000, dragging the Grocers' Bank down with him, and who was subsequently sentenced to four years' imprisonment for forgery aggregating $125,000, was arrested in New York for stealing a loaf of bread valued at eight cents.

—Here it is again. The Newport Journal says:

According to the Dover News and Prince Kawanaka Hawaii is pronounced Havayee. As old man Walton immediately remarked to the INTERIOR JOURNAL "Havayee not had enough of this."

LANCASTER, GARRARD COUNTY.

—The ladies were out in full force Sunday with their new Easter bonnets.

—A young daughter of Mr. J. B. Rucker died Sunday and will be buried at Paint Lick today.

—The Presbyterian church was beautifully decorated with flowers and plants Sunday morning. The work was done by Mrs. D. M. Lackey.

—Mr. Charley Norris, of Paint Lick, has purchased an interest in Mr. T. B. Walker's livery and sale stable. He will move his family to town this week.

—John Scott had his leg broken near town last week and it was necessary to amputate it above the knee, which operation was successfully performed by Drs. Kinnard and Grant.

—Judge Sankey appointed Mr. John W. Miller master commissioner of the Garrard circuit court. Mr. Miller executed his bond and entered upon his duties as such last week.

—The band turned out in their dress uniforms Friday afternoon and had a picture taken. They were to play for a lecture at the court house on that night but the gentleman was taken sick and couldn't come.

—Circuit Court adjourned Friday afternoon. John Campbell who was charged with house breaking confessed and was sent to the penitentiary for two years. This makes three persons sent up at this term of court.

—Misses Mamie Currey and Maud Robinson leave Wednesday to visit friends in Danville. Mr. Henry Hackley returned to Danville Friday. Casey Owsley, of Centre college, spent Sunday at home. Miss Maggie Jennings gave a big tea last Thursday eve in honor of Miss Robinson, the guest of Miss Ellen Owsley. Miss Lou Grant leaves this week for Paris, where she will visit relatives. Mr. Bert Spencer returned to Louisville Monday, where he will finish his course in the Bryant and Stratton commercial college. Mrs. Bettie Landrum is visiting in Richmond. Mrs. W. M. Bogle is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Wheritt. Mr. and Mrs. Joe Carr were visiting in Richmond Sunday.

A SON'S TRIBUTE.

The INTERIOR JOURNAL reproduces this morning the following tender tribute of Mr. Joe E. Waters, the Stanford correspondent of the Harrodsburg Sayings:

The scenes of life are ever changing. Since I sent the last communication to this paper a chair has been made vacant in my childhood's home. A family circle hitherto unbroken has been invaded by the Great Reaper and a loving, indulgent father has been taken to the house not made with hands, eternal in the heavens. As we, his children, stood by his bedside and watched him breathe his last, failing to sleep as gently as a babe upon its mother's breast, we almost imagined we could see his angelic spirit take its flight from the earthly tabernacle to the bosom of Him Who doeth all things well.

He had said repeatedly during his four months' illness that he was ready and willing to pass through the valley of the shadow of death and feared no evil; but oh! 'twas so hard to give him up. Sympathizing neighbors and friends for many miles around were with us all at his bedside both day and night the last few weeks of his illness and their kindness will never be forgotten.

Their words of consolation since the parting hour came were like the balm of Gilead to aching hearts. I recall with pleasure the words of the venerable Dr. David Logan, who, while standing by the deathbed, with tears in his eyes, said: "Mrs. Waters, let's don't grieve so about Evan now, I have known him since boyhood and he has ALWAYS been on the side of right. With him all is well."

It pays to be a Christian. Life is but a journey to the grave—the time to prepare for the end that must come.

To see our father fall asleep in the arms of Him Who died that we might live in "the home over there" where 'tis one bright Summer always and where beneath the ever vernal trees and amid never-fading flowers, beside the crystal waters is heard the sweet music of the redeemed—to note his coolness when speaking of death when so near its door, not a doubt or fear, was a forcible reminder that there is a reality in religion.

The funeral sermon by his pastor, Rev. A. V. Sizemore, was comforting, and the procession extended from town to the cemetery, over three-fourths of a mile distant—the last tribute to an old soldier of the Cross.

Dear father, how we miss thee! How lonely mother will be without thee! May we, your children, strive to imitate your life—strive to live so as to be ready to meet when the message comes.

"Peaceful be thy silent slumber,
Peaceful in the grave so low,
Thou no more wilt join our number,
Thou no more our songs shalt know."

Yet again we hope to meet thee,
When the day of life is fled,
Then in Heaven with joy to greet thee,
Where no farewell tear is shed."

"A Bolivian Indian 9 feet 10 inches high and weighing 418 pounds will be one of the curiosities on exhibition at the World's Fair.

STANFORD, KY., - APRIL 4, 1893

W. P. WALTON.

EIGHT : PAGES. EVERY FRIDAY.

SECRETARY GRESHAM is unearthing a great deal of rottenness in connection with the Behring Sea commission. The commission itself is recklessly extravagant, besides having a number of hang-ups, who are paid $15 a day and expenses to do nothing. In addition to his regular salary as paymaster of the army, Lige Halford has been putting each day $15 in his inside pocket for paying the commission, while J. Stanley Brown, son-in-law of President Garfield, has been doing likewise. The secretary is proving that he is as good a democrat as there is in Washington by cutting off these sinecures and scraping off other barnacles that the republican administration has permitted to cling to the ship of State.

Poor little Tomtit Pettit, who is trying to break back into the democratic fold, after injuring it all he could by flopping to the people's party, offered a resolution in the Legislature the other day eulogizing President Cleveland and his selection of Gresham for Secretary of State but the little buncombe business was set upon 43 to 21. Tommy left us with cause or excuse, after having fed at the public crib for so many years, and having made his bed hard, he can lie hard and out in the cold till he can show forth works more meet for repentance, than offering resolutions and making a monk of himself generally.

The shipment of beautiful women representing various nationalities of the Old World arrived safely in the New York port Saturday. They were chosen out of 1,500 women as fair as the sun ever shone upon and all are said to be as beautiful of face as they are perfect of form. They range in ages from 19 to 25 and represent every type of beauty. This part of the show ought to draw like a porous plaster, except from Kentucky, where we are so used to pretty women that the sight of them no longer excites wonder.

One of the arguments in favor of licensing the sale of liquor at Eureka, Minn., was that there would be no funds for lighting the street lamps, but the young woman's christian temperance union knocked that out in short order. It raised the money by subscription to buy the oil and allotted a lamp to each girl, whose duty it will be to keep it trimmed and burning. So far they are doing their work nobly and the whisky men will have to invent some other excuse to have that traffic continued.

The Peruvians have a treat in store. Hon. James A. McKenzie has been appointed minister to their country and if the sun ever shone on a more genial gentleman or a more captivating orator or conversationalist than "Quinine Jim," we haven't heard of him. The salary is $10,000 a year, with some perquisites and little or no work, so the clever Kentuckian will have ample time to tell his jokes to the admiring crowds that will always gather around him.

Gov. Jas. D. Porter, of Tennessee, says he was not an applicant for minister to Chili, but will accept it. He hopes to restore friendship between this country and that and both are to be congratulated on the substitution of a gentleman and a scholar for an adventurer and a fraud. It was not Mr. Pat Egan's fault that war was not declared between the two nations, and the Chilians showed remarkable self-control to have tolerated him at all in their midst.

The appointment of Ex-Secretary of State Thomas F. Bayard, of Delaware, to be ambassador to Great Britain, will be received with satisfaction all over the country. It will also gratify the democracy to know that Mr. Cleveland is above pandering to the silly sentiment for retaining such a republican in office as Robert T. Lincoln simply because he is the son of his father. Fred Grant ought to be given his walking papers, too, as soon as they can be made out.

LOUISVILLE'S Napoleon of Finance, Mr. A. R. Sutton, was at last arrested for forgery and hypothecating warehouse receipts and held in $50,000 bail. His clerk, Wm. Becher, was held in like sum and neither being able to put up the money or security, they now see the light only through iron bars. The amount of their stealing aggregates $225,000. The banks are the principal losers, but many individuals are caught.

It is reported that a large majority of the Legislature favors the removal of the capital, but it may be a weak invention of the enemy. Certain, however, it is that Lexington and Louisville are stirring themselves to get it, the latter proposing to give a cool million, if it draws the prize. As between the two cities, this section would favor Lexington.

The supply of generals is fast becoming exhausted, but the crop of colonels grows with perennial beauty.

The 1,600 convicts were turned over to the State Saturday by the Mason & Foard Company, who declined to continue their lease. For the first time for years all of them are inside the walls and the worst feature is that most of them are idle, at a cost of $350 a day to the State. The sinking fund commissioners advertised for bidders for the lease all over the country, but not a single one responded, so the elephant is likely to remain on the hands of the State, unless the Legislature can muster enough brains to pass a bill providing for working the convicts on the roads of the State. That is the only way that their labor would not be brought in conflict with free labor, and at the same time benefit the latter.

It is nearly always thus, when preachers give up their sacred functions to wade in the mire of politics. Rev. S. H. Buchanan, of Little Rock, Ark., was a few years ago a prominent preacher of the Cumberland Presbyterian church. He gave up the pastorate to accept the political office of treasurer of the Insane Asylum and now he is in jail for embezzlement. The old maxim that a shoemaker should stick to his last could very well be changed to read, a preacher should swing onto his pulpit.

The Mahometan office seekers, who could not go to the mountain when it was at Washington, are now fleeing to Richmond since it has come that close, and the hegira is simply immense. Messrs. A. K. Denny, J. W. Ront, A. C. Dunn and genus omne struck for Madison yesterday, where Gov. McCreary is at present. He came home to rest, but he'll find that uneasiness lies the head that has anything to do with dispensing the official patronage.

HEADSMAN MAXWELL decapitated 136 republican postmasters Saturday, a passably fair record until you consider that there are over 50,000 fourth-class offices that need democrats to preside over them right now. Counting 300 days as a working year, it will take him at this rate nearly the whole four years to get the last rascal out. Turn on the steam Bre'r Maxwell, if you would break Adalai's record.

A KANSAS lady only 24 and weighing 47 pounds wants to be postage stamp agent at the World's Fair. There is no question of her ability to hold the office down, but the more important one is are the secretaries ducts of her salivary glands equal to licking Columbian stamps for the millions who will wish it done?

THE Louisville Times April foisted the boy with a bogus list of presidential appointments, that sent joy to the hearts of some and pain to those of others, till the bottom lines were reached. Some of our people have not caught on yet that it was a joke.

NEWSY NOTES.

- On the 30th the N. Y. Central will reduce the already fast time to Chicago five hours from New York.

SEMI-WEEKLY INTERIOR JOURNAL

STANFORD, KY., - APRIL 4, 1893

D. C. WALTON, Bus. Manager

PERSONAL POINTS.

MAYOR J. L. COLVICK, of Somerset, was in town last week.

MISS ETTER YEAGER, of Boyle, is visiting Miss Mary Bruce.

COLBY HAYS, Esq., of Rockcastle, was here on business Friday.

SQUIRE J. S. MURPHY went to Rockcastle river yesterday to fish.

Mrs. WILL SAUNDERS has moved to one of the military at Adairville, Logan county.

Mrs. MONTE FOX, of Danville, is visiting her mother, Mrs. Alice Baughman.

TELLER W. M. BROWN has been confined to his bed with a severe cold for several days.

MR. E. W. SMITH has been appointed inspector of ties on the Knoxville Division of the L. & N.

Miss EMMA JONES, of Monticello, is the guest of her aunt, Mrs. Emily Jones, at the Coffey house.

Mr. T. W. GREEN has been promoted from clerk to master of trains to time-keeper for this division.

Mr. ED OWENS and his pretty wife, was Miss Rebecca Cook, of Burgin, visited friends here Friday.

Miss HANNAH STRICKER, of Crab Orchard, went to Louisville yesterday to buy a stock of millinery.

Miss MARY, daughter of Capt. B. F. Powell, who has been sick with malarial fever for some time, is better.

The friends of Squire E. B. Caldwell, Jr., are glad to see him out again after a long seige with a broken leg.

Mr. W. F. SHERIDAN was up from Louisville yesterday, looking as pretty and as happy as a big sunflower.

Mrs. PATRICIA ALLEN, of Memphis, is visiting her sister, Mrs. J. M. Hubbard, who continues in poor health.

Mrs. MARY W. BOWMAN, of Lexington, who has been visiting her sister, Mrs. Forestus Held, went to Mercer county Saturday.

MR. AND MRS. SCOTT FARRIS, of Crab Orchard, have moved in town and will occupy rooms in the old Commercial Hotel building.

Mr. J. A. BOWEN, who has been clerk for the chief dispatcher of the K. C. division, has been promoted to dispatcher and now has the third trick. His office is at Paris.

JUDGE T. Z. MORROW entertained the local bar and visiting attorneys at his home at Somerset the other night, and Hon. R. D. Warren, who was present, tells us it was a rare occasion of feasting and good cheer.

Mr. CHARLES D. WEBB, formerly a compositor on this paper, was nominated by the democrats for mayor of Paris. We congratulate "Scrub" on demonstrating that a man can get there even with short legs.

MISS LIZZIE SLAVMAKER will leave for a protracted visit to friends in Glasgow tomorrow. She will accompany Mrs. Mary Dickinson, who returns home after a pleasure visit to her daughter, Mrs. W. E. Ellis.

CITY AND VICINITY.

ONION sets and garden seeds at A. A. Warren's.

GARDEN seeds of all kinds at W. H. Warren & Co's.

Lots of shade trees for sale. J. C. Thompson, Lancaster.

NICE light spring shoes at greatly reduced prices at T. J. Hatcher's, Yeager's Stable.

MARCH came in like a lamb and went out like a lamb. Another old the story is therefore upset.

JUST received from Mason, Campbell & Co., a complete line of ladies' and gentlemen's dressed and undressed kid gloves, B. F. Jones & Son.

We have received a full stock of Boticelli's Patterns. Any pattern sent by mail, postpaid, on receipt of catalogue price. Severeou Sou.

I will be compelled to make an additional charge when I have to send for laundry on Tuesday mornings. You can save money by having it ready on Monday. Jesse J. Thompson.

OPENING.—The ladies are invited to attend my summer opening of millinery, which will be found to be unusually large and comprehensive, next Friday and Saturday, April 7 and 8. Miss Mary Davies Dudderar.

SPRING hats were decidedly in the minority at church Sunday. One reporter only counted nine at the one he attended and the large building was packed, principally by the fair sex. It is almost too soon for the flowers to bloom even on ladies' hats.

W. C. WEEMS, a brakeman, who claims to be from Georgia, was fined $20 for drunkenness and disorderly conduct at Rowland and attempting to break into a negro cabin on the Shelton Hotel premises. He had no laure, so he languished in the lock-up till Dr. Amos came to his relief.

BOARDERS, with or without rooms, wanted. Mrs. Rannie Burks.

We invite the farmers to inspect our Whitley Binders and Mowers. Farris & Hardin.

Buy your seed Irish potatoes of W. H. Weston & Co., and get the best at the lowest price.

OUR good democratic friend, Wm. Husar, has been appointed post-master at Ottenheim. J. B. Walker has been appointed at Kirksville and C. L. Searcy at Waco.

LEANDER DAVIDSON and wife, of Garrard, have three children, whose grandparents are all living, each of whom is past four score years and ten. The oldest is nearly 100 years old.

JOHN TEMPLE GRAVES, a prince among orators, will lecture at Walton's Opera House next Monday night, 10th, on the Reign of the Demagogue. Admission 50 cents. Everybody ought to attend.

THERE is on exhibition here a crayon portrait of Mr. John M. Hall, made by Wm. McDonald Waters, of Danville, that would do credit to most any artist and considering that he never took a lesson, is remarkable. It is an exact reproduction of the photograph and a good likeness generally.

A SENIOR named Randolph Tweat, who says he is from Key West, Fla., was seen to break the window of Pete Hampton's confectionery establishment Thursday night and take out a watch and some other things. He was arrested and at trial Saturday was held in $100 bond to the circuit court.

WILLIS LOGAN, the negro who was caught at the straw stack in which Mr. John L. Raney's stolen meat was found, was held to the circuit court in $200 bond, which he gave. Nothing but the fact that he was there connected him with the crime, but that of itself is pretty conclusive evidence against him.

Owing to the ill-health of Capt. Frank Harris, master of trains on this division, Supt. W. P. Pike has transferred him to the dispatcher's office, of which he is made chief, and Mr. B. F. Roller has succeeded to his position. Mr. J. A. Mudd goes back to the first trick, with promise of promotion to chief on the first vacancy.

GROUNDS TO PIKE.—The caboose of a freight train jumped the track on account of a defective frog, at Burnside, and W. S. Phillips, who attempted to jump, was thrown under the wheels and crushed to death. Mr. T. M. Thatcher, secretary of the Pulaski Fair Co., was also in the caboose, but jumped far enough to escape injury.

THE assessor's books have been completed and are now in the hands of County Clerk George B. Cooper. Misses Salie and Jessie Cook, of Hustonville, again compiled the work, which was done with commendable neatness and dispatch.

The books show that the total amount of taxable property in the county is $5,215,234 and that the exemptions for personal property amount to $325,376. The amount of taxable property this year is $225,219 in excess of last year.

ABOUT four years ago Sheriff Menefee had his house on the Somerset pike to burn, and in it was a lot of wheat and other valuables. J. R. Dollins and family were occupying it at the time, but none of them were at home. Mr. Menefee complained to Mr. Dollins and told him of his carelessness in leaving the house alone with the fire in it, but the old man had nothing and if the law had said so he could not have paid Mr. Menefee anything for his loss. Mr. Menefee figured that he would be out about $2,500 and then figured how to get it back. He decided to insure Mr. Dollins' life for that amount and Mr. A. G. Eastland, of the Mutual Life, of New York, soon had the papers fixed up all right. Mr. Menefee made four payments, amounting to about $400, and as Mr. Dollins died last week he will draw the insurance and it be $2,100 ahead. This clever sheriff bought a handsome coffin for the old gentleman and had Undertaker Mack Huffman to send it out with his best hearse.

AN INTERIOR JOURNAL man enjoyed, with delightful company, a drive to the Keeley Cure, at Crab Orchard, Friday, and a stay of several hours there. Mr. and Mrs. Gus Hofmann, of the Hotel, laid us under renewed obligations for courtesies, which are highly appreciated.

They and a number of others, including pretty Miss Eva Buchanan, were trying to induce the fish in the large lake there to toy with their hooks, but it was almost love's labor lost, as only two little newlights responded, one of those to the gentle allurements of a member of our party, who were invited to join in the amusement. Mr. Hofmann has begun already to get the place in shape for a big summer season, for the success of which he will leave nothing undone.

There are at present some 30 persons taking the bi-chloride of gold cure, including several ladies, who want to be rid of the terrible morphine habit.

All the patients are nice looking people, very quiet and show but little signs of the disease that brought them to the Cure.

Dr. Dick, himself a graduate of the Dwight Institute, is an exceedingly pleasant gentleman and the firmest believer in the cure we have ever seen.

THE oldest inhabitant can not recall a prettier Easter than was enjoyed and yesterday was also a fine day. Sunday was the perfection of spring weather. Local storms for last night and fair today are the predictions of the signal service.

NOTICES for application for liquor license have been posted as follows: B. F. Eddings, at McKinney; M. L. Harris at Crab Orchard, and J. W. Carrier and D. L. Twaddle at Rowland. S. A. Coyle is not satisfied with the refusal of the county judge to grant him distiller's license, so he has picked his silt and will try again.

W. B. SMITH, the man charged with stealing $400 from the Idol-Proctor Sewing Machine Co., evidently did not want to add perjury to his other crime. His own evidence was sufficient to hold him for further trial, without corroborating testimony. Bail was fixed at $300, owing to his inability to give any amount. He was prosecuted by Messrs. John W. Yerkes, J. W. Alcorn and J. B. Paxton and defended by Messrs. R. C. Warren and J. L. Colyer.

MAYOR VANDEVER is very proud of a tomahawk and butcher knife presented him by Michael John Mitchell, our clever blacksmith. They are made out of old horse shoes and tempered by a process of his own invention; that makes it as hard as steel and capable of as sharp and lasting an edge. You had better look out for the mayor now. He is liable to buckle on his butcher knife and with his tomahawk go on the war path at the slightest provocation.

THE justices met with Judge Varnon yesterday for the purpose of fixing the county levy and pass on claims filed too late for their last court. There were present Esquires John Bailey, W. A. Coffey, W. L. Dawson, G. D. Sniley, Wm. Leach, L. B. Adams, A. C. Carman, J. T. Brown, George W. Young, W. P. Grimes, George P. Bright, H. F. Newland, E. B. Caldwell, Jr. After passing a number of claims and admitting several persons to the poor-house, the court adjourned till next Tuesday, as the sheriff was not quite ready for a settlement.

THE election of directors of the Danville & Crab Orchard turnpike Saturday resulted in the selection of Messrs. G. A. Luckey, J. L. Bosley, J. W. Gunst, W. M. Higgins, J. S. Owlesby and John Bright, the latter in the place of J. H. McAlister. An effort was made to elect Dan Stagg, Jr., over Mr. Bosley for superintendent, but it failed, the old man receiving about 1,600 votes to the young man's 486. In the former's vote, however, is included the State's proxy. Most everybody is glad that Mr. Bosley will be retained. He has been with the pike so long and served it so faithfully that things wouldn't look natural without him.

CHURCH AFFAIRS.

—Rev. W. E. Arnold will preach at Neal's School-house next Sunday at 3 p.m.

—Rev. A. V. Sizemore will preach at Coffey's School-house next Sunday afternoon.

—Rev. A. S. Moffitt is holding a meeting at the Maxwell street Presbyterian church, Lexington.

—Rev. Thomas Spurgeon will fill his father's pulpit in London one year on trial.

—Rev. J. L. Hamilton, a wife murderer, was the first preacher to set in the chair at Sing Sing. He was electrocuted yesterday.

—Elder J. G. Livingston will preach at Sugar Grove at 3 p.m. next Sunday, at which time he will also re-organize the Sunday-school.

—A new church choir in Boston has for its soprano Mrs. Marie Barnard Smith, at a salary of $2,000 a year, and Myron Whitney as its bass, on a $3,000 salary.

—Rev. J. W. Hughes, in a letter to the Kentucky Methodist, announces that hereafter no pupils of Asbury College will be permitted to use tobacco in any way.

—The ten-days' meeting at the Presbyterian church has ended night, with a net increase of 10 to the membership, sixty by letter. The church was packed Sunday night, when Rev. W. A. Slavemaker preached the closing sermon.

—Rev. W. W. Green writes from Salvisa, under date of March 28th, as follows:

"We are having a wonderful meeting; 91 conversions to date and 29 additions to the church. Town stirred as never before."—Jessamine Journal.

—The Semi-Annual Meeting of the Cumberland River Sunday-School Association will be held at Olive church, 2½ miles from Waynesburg, on the 5th Saturday in this month. The South Kentucky S.S. Association will also meet there the same day.

—Elder Martin Owens writes that it was he and not Elder Livingston, who preached Wm. Terry's funeral. He also writes that he has a clock with wooden works that has been running 45 years and an English lever watch, made 75 years ago. It is of silver, has a flat dial and gold figures.

—The oldest church existing in the United States is situated in Smithland,

Va. It was built in the reign of Charles I., between the years 1630 and 1635, the brick, lime and timber being imported from England. The timber is English oak and was framed in England. It is a brick structure, erected in the most substantial manner. The mortar has become so hardened that it will strike fire in collision with steel.

—The Easter song service at the Christian church was a decided feature of Sunday's worship and followed by a sermon appropriate to the day, by Rev. W.

E. Ellis, the occasion proved both p'reasant and profitable to the large crowd that attended. Uncle Jimmie Warren, now in his 86th year, presided at the communion table and testified anew to the goodness of God that has attended him during the 60 years of his religious life.

—Friday's Louisville Times contains a curious account of Rev. John O. Rust, who recently held a revival at the Baptist church here, and also a picture of the church he has just succeeded in completing at Bardstown, and which was dedicated Sunday, Rev. F. H. Kerfoot preaching the sermon. The building is Gothic in design, is made of rough na-

Inconvenient.
She was a little old fashioned girl, raised among people very much older than herself. One of the cold nights of this old fashioned winter she was sent to bed and a jug of hot water placed as a protection against cold feet. She made an earnest protest against this, and the mother had to threaten punishment before the little old girl yielded the point. No doubt she did some literal kicking after getting to bed, for shortly after doing so she hopped to the top of the stairway with one foot parboiled from the contents of the jug, and with tears streaming down her cheeks called insistently, "Mamma, it is really inconvenient for me to have that jug in my bed." It was removed, and the nurse sat up with the foot.—Detroit Free Press.

A Problem.

He—No, the boss doesn't pay me more than I'm worth.

She—How in the world do you manage to live on it?—Life.

Thought He Knew It All.

The clerk with the waxed mustache and bangs listened rather impatiently while the little woman explained what she wanted.

"Yes, yes," he said at last, "I understand." He took down a roll of cloth and added, "Hero is just the thing."

"But I said"—she began.

"I know," he interrupted. "You want the cloth for a wrapper, and this is something fine."

"Oh, is it?" said the little woman.

"Yes, it's all the rage," he returned as he unrolled the cloth. "It's just what you want, and it's cheap too."

"Really?" she asked.

"Oh, yes; it matches your complexion, and nothing could be better for a wrapper."

"And you're sure I want it for a wrapper?"

"Why, I suppose, of course!"

"And you're quite certain that this is the piece of goods I want?" she interrupted.

"Really, I'm usually so accurate in my judgment that I can hardly believe!"

"Can you think of anything else that I want?"

"No, madam," he replied, with some nervousness, "I confess that I can't."

"Let me tell you, then," she said, eying him sharply over the counter. "I want a clerk who will let me know a little something about what I want myself. Will you kindly ask the young woman at the next counter to come and wait on me?"

He did so, and she purchased material for a tea gown.—Baltimore Herald.

Drew the Line at the Return.

She had just burned her arm on the oven door, and her desultory remarks were yet echoing through the humble yet comfortable cottage when the man with grizzled whiskers and an air of self-repression knocked at the door.

When she appeared at the threshold, he fell upon her neck.

"After all these years, after all these years," he sobbed.

The lines at her forehead deepened, but she was silent.

"Can you?"

Seizing her yielding hand, he directed burning glance into her eyes.

"forgive me for leaving you, Mary!"

A sigh agitated her bosom.

"Yes," she answered, "I had forgiven you for that."

"Mary."

The joy that shone from his face was a coker.

"But"—

She contemplated him in a weary way.

"I don't see why you couldn't let it go at that. I don't believe I can be resigned to your coming back."

He perceived the necessity of a great sacrifice on her part and went forth into the woodshed and plied the ax.—Detroit Tribune.

Childish Innocence.

Little Harold, who was making a call on his own hook, asked the lady of the house if she could "come to our house for tea tomorrow."

"Why, I thought the invitations were for next Thursday."

"They was, but I guess you better come tomorrow, for I heard mother say she wanted to have the darned thing over with as quick as she could."—Detroit Free Press.

Better.

The eminent entertainer and song and dance man had just got off his little joke about "taking a bath once every year whether he needed it or not," but no one laughed. The eminent entertainer felt hurt. "I guess," said he, "that I ought to have raised the limit in this town. Suppose we make it once in five years. Now, do you see the point?"—Indianapolis Journal.

A Smart Girl.

Uncle Daniel—Mollie is powerful handy about the house, even if she is rich.

"What did she do?"

"Made me a real comfortable bed out of one of her bookcases."—Chicago Inter-Ocean.

Almost Nothing.

Fred—How do you like the table at your new boarding house? Is there anything to object to?

Arthur—Precious little, old fellow.—
